DICKENS' STORY OF MYSTERY IS AT YE LIBERTY

"The Mystery of Edwin Drood," the unfinished masterpiece of Charles Dickens, portrayed by Tom Terris and his English players, will be the feature offering at Ye Liberty theater tonight. Mr. Terris is admitted to be the ablest exponent of Dickens' characters of the present day and in "Edwin Drood" is said to excel.

The story is a weird one. A young couple, Edwin Drood and Rosa Budd, are engaged to be married. This is not a love affair, but a marriage of convenience, according to the last expressed wish of their parents. They, however, are very fond of each other in a platonic way; but John Jasper, a young uncle of Edwin Drood, leader of the choir and organist of Cloisterham cathedral, unbeknown to Edwin Drood, is madly in love with Rosa. His passion for her is so intense that it drives him to despair, and, in secret, he seeks solace in opium and practices this vice in all manner of low places.

A young man, called Neville Landless, is also in love with Rosa, and his feelings of jealousy and enmity to Drood are, at all times, inflamed secretly by John Jasper. There is a quarrel after dinner one night at Jasper's house and that night Edwin Drood disappears. Jasper immediately arouses the village to suspect Neville Landless, who, the morning after Drood's disappearance, left the village for a walking tour. A warrant is issued and Neville is brought back. Charged with the murder, he is imprisoned. No sign of Drood, though, comes to hand. The river is dragged, but with no result.

In the meantime Neville's sister Helena disappears and shortly after a mysterious stranger, under the name of Mr. Datchery, appears in Cloisterham, takes rooms near John Jasper and commences secret inquiries. A peculiar woman in black, the keeper of the opium den which John Jasper visits in London, also shadows Jasper. It is at this exciting period that the book finishes, stopped by the death of Charles Dickens and all manner of writers have endeavored to fit in the concluding chapters of this story. In the version upon the screen, Mr. Terris suggested his own view, in connection with a few of the best accepted theories.

GREAT ANIMAL PICTURE SHOWN AT THE POPULAR

It is safe to say that every man, woman and child through whose veins courses a drop of red blood, loves a picture or a story of adventure where the hero is on the brink of death or misfortune every minute but who finally manages to wiggle out by some hair-breadth escape and prove that virtue triumphs over vice and that all ends happily.

This is just the kind of a picture that is one of the two big features at the Popular theater this week. It is a Cines photo-drama, "Between Savage and Tiger," a six-part story of adventure on the high seas and in the wildest jungles of India, in which tigers, elephants, antelope, water-buffalo and tribes of wild savages play a conspicuous part.

There was a big crowd at both performances at the Popular theater yesterday and this picture vied for favor with "Deave's Marionettes," which, by the way, is not a moving picture, but a clever manikin show that is bound to please young and old alike. Cleverly manipulated by Mr. and Mrs. Deaves, these little mites of wood and leather keep every one interested and amused.

During all the week this act will be at the Popular Manager Bredhoff has arranged to give a daily matinee in addition to the regular evening performance.

"COWBOY PREACHER" WILL ADDRESS BOYS OF LOCAL Y. M. C. A.

"A Preacher Among the Cowboys" is the talk book for the Saturday morning rally of the Y. M. C. A. boys' department this week. D. C. Peters, pastor of the Christian church, will be the speaker. The meeting is for boys 12 to 18 years old and is in charge of the boys themselves. Francis Bowers, Oswald Auerbach and Leo de Roo are the boys responsible for the meeting this week. The meeting starts promptly at 10 o'clock and lasts 30 minutes.

Following the meeting S. W. Robley, boys' physical director, will conduct various competitive games for the boys. In addition he will put on a special exhibition of fancy parallel bar work and high diving. It is planned to make Saturday morning a popular time at the Y. M. C. A. for the members of the boys' department. Boy friends of the members are invited to the meeting to hear the "cowboy preacher" talk.

Deposits held by banks of Chicago now stand around $1,650,000,000.
